

Holistic Architecture & Program Planning Initiative™ (HAPPI): Accelerator for full and partial transformation

Axiome's Holistic Architecture & Program Planning Initiative™ (HAPPI) is the first step to successful mid- and large-scale technology programs in the financial services industry.

OVERVIEW

HAPPI is the first step in the Advanced Banking Framework (ABF). The outcome of this step helps to avoid the common pitfalls typically experienced with a transformation and together with Axiome's Clarity Method it sets the basis for a successful execution of the transformation journey.

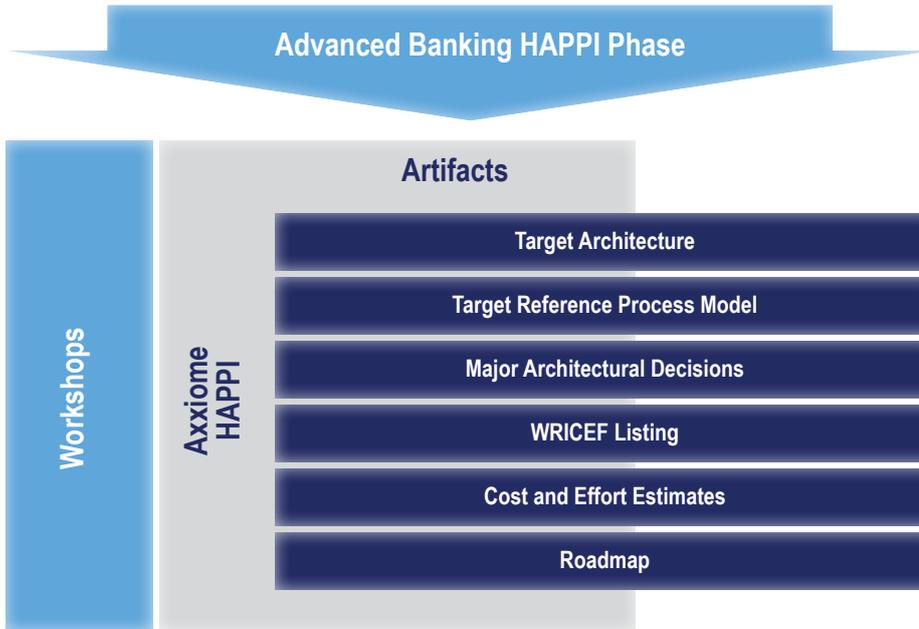

HAPPI is the project preparation of all fundamental architecture and outlines how the business and technology work together to get to a stage where both are successfully transformed and working efficiently.

The initiative is a series of structured workshops with defined deliverables and prefabricated content lessons based on experience in previous large scale transformations.

FIRST STEP IN THE ADVANCED BANKING FRAMEWORK - HAPPI

BUSINESS VALUE

In summary Axxiome's Holistic Architecture & Program Planning Initiative™ (HAPPI):

- Provides thorough planning very early in the project phase
- Defines program estimates at a sufficient level of detail for stakeholder alignment
- Prepares the tasks for the extended teams in advance of the actual project work
- Avoids expensive spin later in the project

- Aligns business and IT
- Sets the methodology and architecture for successful program execution
- Allows you to re-use whatever design patterns have proven successful in the past (evidence based re-use)

Have the heated discussions in the early phase of the project, so the air is clear before you get started.
